Data-Vision Partners With PRMS to Deliver Risk Management Solutions

In Today's challenging market environment Data-Vision delivers comprehensive risk management and production analytics tools to its clients nationwide

MISHAWAKA, IND. – June 21, 2011 – Data-Vision, Inc., a leading pioneer in Internet lending technologies that enable mortgage lenders to quickly and affordably implement web portal and e-lending capabilities, and Precision Risk Management Systems, Inc. (PRMS), the leading provider of modern risk management solutions, announced today that they have partnered to deliver risk management solutions.

Data-Vision President, Randy Schmidt, stated, “In an effort to constantly add value to our hundreds of clients nationwide we have partnered with PRMS to deliver risk management and production analytics tools to help our clients achieve greater profitability. By partnering with PRMS, our customers can better manage risk within their pipelines”.

PRMS helps lenders achieve greater profitability by using their advanced risk management technology tools or by using their comprehensive managed hedge services. In addition, PRMS's dynamic production analytics and adverse selection tools will help lenders measure and manage the performance and profitability of their loan sources and loan products much more effectively.

David Demster, Executive Vice President of PRMS, said “PRMS is very excited to be working with Data-Vision. Through the relationship, Data-Vision will be able to offer its clients modern risk management solutions that consistently maximize loan execution, even in volatile markets.” Demster added, “In addition, the advanced Production Analytics system is an invaluable tool providing the in-depth information lenders need to measure and manage loan sources, pricing and enable lenders to make truly data-driven decisions.”
